Oh the places you'll go!

DR SUEZ CANAL

Oh, the places you'll go! When the muster is rung! There are stairs to scale. There is gear to be hung. And the magical things you will find on your travels. As a thread on your fleeci-est-fleece shirt unravels. You can get so confused, that you'll start to race. down long wiggled corridors at a break-necking pace and grind on for miles across heated floor space, headed, I fear, toward a most useless place.

You'll get mixed up, of course, as you already know. You'll get mixed up with many strange expos as you go. So be sure when you step. Step with care and great tact and remember that seafaring is a Great Balancing Act. Just follow the crew most dexterous and deft. And never mix up your port foot with your left. And will you succeed to make the muster you need? Yes! You will, yes indeed! (98 and 3/4 percent guaranteed.) You have brains in your head. You have feet in your crocs. You can steer yourself to the correct meeting spot. You're A or you're B. And you know what you know. And YOU are the one who'll decide where to go... (But please follow the arrow.)

The Greatest Snowman Set to Melt Hearts This Summer

DR OLAF ELSA 16TH JANUARY 2022

RSV NUYINA HELIDECK, CASEY STATION -- Hugh Jackman is in talks to star in "The Greatest Snowman," a new musical based on a snowperson built on the aft helideck of the RSV Nuyina during its maiden voyage. Jackman, one of Broadway's most acclaimed actors, will take on the titular role of "The Snowman" which, in real life, was originally built by a mulleted aquarist and compass-loving data tech just before the Nuyina arrived at Casey Station.

Details about the plot are thin, but rumour has it the film will centre around "The Snowman" leading a ragtag group of misfits on a personal journey to loving themselves for who they are. Jackman's agent reports that the film is about the mantra "live, laugh, love" which Jackman has tattooed on his thigh. Although it will be mostly set in the Antarctic, Zac Efron is slated to star alongside Jackman as an acrobatic and charming dancer who must remain shirtless throughout the film

(as stipulated in his contract) and Zendaya's talents will go horribly underutilized. The film will also highlight the first circus in Antarctica where the misfits perform for money, or something like that, but all you need to know is this film will be average at best but that's really all we want from Hugh.

Baz Luhrmann is attached to direct, Lorana is scheduled to do the catering on set (Jackman is a big fan of caramel slice) and none of this story will make sense to you if you haven't seen The Greatest Showman.

SHIRLEY ISLAND, CASEY STATION -- The weekly Adelie penguin muster at Casey Station has uncovered a puzzling and potentially bloody new mystery. One of the penguins is missing. The penguin, known only by its first name -- Sam -- did not show up with its survival kit and in full PPPE (Penguin Personal Protective Equipment) on Jan. 17.

"We have no idea where they've gone," said the head of the muster Ben, this years winner of 'Best Mullet in the AAD'. "I gave the other penguins a bit of the good cop-bad cop routine but none of them are talking."

The Adelie colony muster is a Casey Station institution, as beloved by expeditioners as the skiloop, the purple Haag and the red shed.

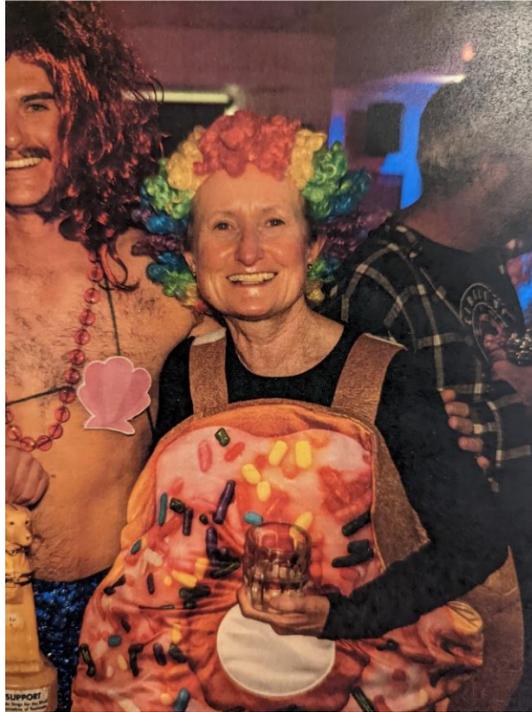

An investigation has been opened but so far, the only lead is a small fragment of fluorescent fabric that looks suspiciously like the sprinkles on a donut. According to Ben, the last person seen wearing the donut costume was Casey Station sweetheart and Black Forest Gateaux-phile, Dee, who donned the baked good at a recent social gathering.

"I can tell you right now that I have nothing to do with the disappearance of Sam the penguin," Dee told the OraKrill while cleaning a scalpel that appeared to be covered in tomato sauce or some other non-descript red liquid.

"I love all creatures great and small but I especially love ones that are delici -- uh, sorry -- delightful." The doctor, whose birthplace remains a mystery, has not been seen since Jan. 19.

Casey's twin otter has also disappeared and it's currently unclear if the two are related.

Rumours are also swirling that Penguini Linguini will be served in the Casey Station this winter period as a treat, but the OraKrill has been unable to confirm these claims.

Missing in Action

Concerns that perky young factory condition acoustic device has met an untimely end

Several concerned "Sound Witches" have been desperately searching for the juvenile device since late last week. The cutie patootie is known to be an important component in the practice of "Sound Sorcery", a form of divination that predicts the shape of the ocean floor, encounters with nefarious creatures of the deep and the longevity of pandemic sourdough starters.

Responds to "SVS" or "That sound thingy the acousticians use". Last seen poking out below the hull wearing a terrified look while deadly shards of ice hurtle towards it. Any information call RIMESTOPPERS.

UPDATE

Man Rewarded for Immature Behaviour with Rare Fold-Out Table

R.E. TIRING
16TH JANUARY 2022

The OraKrill can reveal from sources deep within the Observation Deck that Dr Jack Ryan, the terror of level 9, who was exposed in the last issue for claiming unallocated seating spots; has been unjustly rewarded for his actions with a valuable fold out table.

The table was reportedly in demand on the bridge for essential purposes however Dr Ryan and accomplice decided that their needs were greater than that of literally everyone else on board the vessel.

More evidence that there is clearly no justice in this krill krill world. More updates to come.

We pay our respects to the Palawa people, the Aboriginal people of lutruwita (Tasmania), who gave this ship its majestic name.
